

Mrs Dimple Mae Sanders

March 9, 1932 - February 23, 2014

Dimple Mae Butler entered this world on March 9, 1932 in Putnam County, GA to the parentage of the late Thorton Butler and the late Rosa Mae Jefferson. Dimple's parents died while she was under the age of seven years old leaving her grandmother the late Fannie Butler to raise her.

One daughter, Barbara S. Copeland and one brother, Jimmy Butler preceded her in death.

She began working at the age of nine and worked for Mobil Chemical until her retirement. Dimple was known for her outspokenness and kindness to whomever she encountered or needed words of encouragement, endearment, or prayer. She enjoyed fishing, gardening, and sewing, she was famous for her collard greens and was also well known for her telephone ministry. Mother Sanders always found a way to proclaim the goodness of God to everyone she came in contact which included debt collectors. She was frequently admired for her billion dollar smile, cheerfulness, appearance, fragrance, and especially for her beautiful collection of Sunday hats.

She joined Mt Gilead Baptist Church under the leadership of the late Reverend TJ Giles and served faithfully as an usher and later in life she joined New Life Outreach Christian Center also serving as a dedicated mother on the motherboard where the late Apostle Dr. Gus Kilgore was pastor. Prior to her death Mother Sanders joined Word Alive Ministries (W.A.M.) where Marquette Brooks is the pastor and where Mother Sanders continued to serve faithfully as Head-Church mother.

At the age of 17, on March 27, 1949 Dimple met and married the love of her life, the late Emmitt Sanders, Jr. To this union five beautiful daughters were born: Inez S. Brooks, Margie Sanders, Barbara S. Copeland (deceased), Mary Sanders, and Joyce (Ricky) Kemp all of Monticello, GA.
